able attention to the maladministration o Formosa. Much in the same way as we do in 'Hongkong, when we do not wish to appear hard on individual administrators, some of the Japanese blame 'the system and not the officials responsible for the executive administration of the newly-acquired territory. According to information that reaches us the system is little better than the officials. We can scarcely believe that the enlightened rulers of the Japanese Empire have any tolerance for incapacity or that they desire anything other than to establish a good system of administration and to have the country governed under a system that will bear the application of the ordinary rules of humanity, and it is to be hoped that both on the score of self-interest as well as for the sake of humanity the Japanese Government will at once seek a revision of the administration and the removal of every official who transgresses against the laws of common humanity. One of the English papers in Japan says the recent changes in the administrative staff in For-Mining Co., Limited, at the Company's mosa convey little meaning; 'doubtless they represent an improved organisation, but what Formosa wants is not good administrative machinery so much as good men to run it. If a complete re-casting of the personnel of Formosan officialdom were announced we should have more confidence in the prospect.' That a radical change is necessary may be gathered from the follow-

The deceased was in the service of an English firm carrying on business at Townfoo. He was accused of illicit dealing in opium, and, on the 27th August last, was handed over by his employers to the Japanese police at the request of the British Consul. The prisoner was never brought to trial, and languished in a pestilential prison until death brought him a happy release. In the special case brought to our notice, the unfortunate prisoner was handed over to the Japanese at the request of the British Consul, who has, therefore, a duty to perform. in the interests of British prestige. We understand that the facts have been laid before him, and that he has been asked to press the matter upon the attention of the Japanese Government. A hireling apologist of the Japanese has ventured the opinion that Formosa is outside the pale of the Japanese constitution but even if that were so it does not follow that ignorant and brutal Japanese officials are to be allowed to indulge in judicial murder and to transgress the ordinary rules of common humanity. To call spade a spade, the Taiwan case is one of murder, and as such should merit for its perpetrators the most condign punishment. OUR special attention has been drawn to the painfully deliberate manner in which the coolie work is being carried on at the Praya Reclamation. Two or three dozen men may be seen frequently carrying on work in a manner which reminds one of a boy who nibbles his gingerbread cake so as to make it last for the whole day. It is really a study in Chinese character to watch a row of coolies protending to best down the earth on the reclamation. A scene in a comic opera is nothing to the amusement to be derived from the economy of energy here shown. Whether the contractor who pays the men so much per day extracts the same amount of anusement from this exhibition is snother matter. It may be said the Colony does not have to pay for this disgraceful shirking of a fair day's work for a fair day's pay. But indirectly the delay so caused has already cost a good deal, and the greater the delay the greater will be the loss to the lotholders. No one who knows the Chipese workman or coolie will ever expect to see overseal shown in any kind of worka Chinese has never been known to burst a blood-yearel orrack a sinew when he works at no much a day. But some reasonable amount of expedition, and an ordinary amount of supervision, might fairly be looked for in a semi-public kind of work like that of the new Prays Reclamation. We commend the point to the attention of Mr Ormsby, the new Director of Public

There are some good stories in a little Government House, the public offices, the book, 'Repartee,' by David Macrae, issued by Morrison Brothers, Glasgow. They are quotation. One tells that it used to be the eastom in some of the Scottish parish churches for the minister to bow to the course. On one occasion the laird was absent, but the pow contained a bery o ladies. The minister, feeling a delicacy in the circumstances, omitted the usual salnam. When they next met, the laird's daughter, widely famed for her beauty, and afterwards Countess of Mar, rallied the minister for not bowing to her from the pulpit, minister's reply was admirable. 'Your ladyship forgets, he said, 'that the worship of angels is not allowed by the Scottish Church.' Another is to the effect that when Campbell of Monzie was a candidate for vote. The man answered angrily, 'Vote for you! I'd sooner vote for the deil! said Campbell, but if your friend doesn't stand, may I depend upon your support?' His wit and good nature triumphed. A CHINESE KLONDYKE GOLDFIELDS NEAR PERING.

There have been many rumours of rich oldfields in China from time to time, and those engineers generally agree, who have passed through Manchuria, the north and south west of China, that there exist many fields of untold mineral wealth. In these districts gold is known to be in abundance, but hitherto the simple methods of surlace digging that the Chinese have employed for centuries and still employ have not caused much fever in mining circles nor caused a rush to one sont for another. China's mineral fields have never yet been properly or adequately worked, although we occasionally learn from the native press that such and such an official is importing into Chungking or Manchuria foreign machinery for gold mining purposes. There, hidden in the deep recesses of the interior or in some sheltering yamen, the machinery seems to rest, for the mative press ever careful to chronicle the advent of such gold raising machinery never jubilate over any big hauls of the precious metal.

At last in one place which is reported to be exceedingly rich in minerals, if good native authority be accepted, a native for gold, the prospecting having been very satisfactory. Already residences and offices have been built in the district and work will actively commence with the beginning of the Chinese new year, which we presume is synonymous with good joss.

A representative of the Shanghai Daily Press recently called on a Chinese gentleman, Mr Fung Quak Fun, and in conversation with him secured some interesting work about to be undertaken,

It appears a private company has been Ground, when an interesting and amusing formed amongst a number of influential Chinese officials, at the head of which is H.E. Weng Tung-ho, the tutor to the Emperor, and a man of much power. These vitations, and amongst those present was gontlemen have secured from the Emperorthe sole right to work two districts for silver and gold on the most favourable

For the first year's operation they pay nothing for the concession, but after that a rate of percentage on the output will be fixed, to be paid into the Imperial ex-

The districts which the company will work are Mee Yuen and Chang Ping, situated 100 li north of Paking. The necessary foreign machinery has - been purchased and part is at Shanghai and part is already on the way to its destination. The head of the mining staff is a skilled native engineer who has worked for gold in many parts of the world and who is thought to be competent with his staff to look after the machinery.

The districts are said to be very rich in gold and silver and samples of quartz have already reached Shanghai and have considerably hastened the dispatch of the machinery. The quartz is also very rich and the quality is said to be the best yet discovered in the empire. A short time ago an official offered the company one million taels for their concession, which was refused, tending only to strengthen their interest. The result, if the working of it is carried out on proper modern lines, will no doubt be watched by many, Chinese and foreigners alike but our representative was informed that no foreignors will be permitted to mine there without a concession. Considering that the Chinese miners are everywhere in the foreign gold fields, this seems unfair, and if the discoveries bear out the reputation-given them we fancy the native authorities will find it somewhat difficult to keep back a growd of hungry

A junk flying Messre Butterfield and Swize's flag was lest month robbed by armed robbers. The local authorities, however, upon being informed of the case succoeded in promptly arresting the vagabonds and recovering 834 bales of yarn and 18 of niers goods. There were three large failures of native banks during the autumn feetival, with liabilities emounting to one hundred and fifty thousand tasla. - Shanghai Daily Press.
